

Navigating law and compliance for life science innovators revolutionizing health

As a long-time biopharma executive and seasoned product attorney, I have dedicated my career to navigating complex health law and regulatory issues and have helped bring several life-saving treatments to market.

I'm a problem solver who understands the unique needs of life science companies and advises leaders on their most pressing questions.

Thought partner for cutting-edge industry leaders and startups

Having lived through major industry investigations and watched government scrutiny increase over time, I bring well-honed judgment to counsel clients on what to prioritize and what works.

Clients rely on my perspective and ability to use a long lens to prepare them not just for right now but also for what's next to help them achieve their business goals.

Using a practical approach, I offer guidance that takes into account organizational behavior and the human experience to craft realistic solutions that are both doable and fulfill law and compliance objectives.

I see the many factors driving an issue and reach across functional lines to collaborate on thoughtful ways forward.

Bringing a holistic perspective with industry know-how

With close to three decades in both law and compliance, I leverage a rare combination of legal expertise with a breadth of in-house biopharma experience to help clients make more informed decisions about risk in a fast-evolving industry.

I've worked with many different entities across the healthcare system. With my broad background, you get a partner who understands not only the legal and regulatory landscape but your unique business needs, organizational dynamics and the challenges you face.

"I had the privilege of working closely with Mary for several years at a prior role in big pharma. Mary gets it done.

She works relentlessly to build effective, sensible, defensible, concise solutions to complicated problems, often creating policies and processes from scratch, ahead of the curve.

She builds consensus with good humor, energy, vision, enthusiasm, and clarity. She gets the big picture, and sweats the tiny, critical details.

Mary is a true professional, and one of the most outstanding compliance experts I have come across in 22 years in-house. I recommend her with the highest endorsement."
